What will the weather be like?

This is the beginning of winter in the UK and temperatures can get quite cold in the mornings and late evenings. Also, near the ocean, temperatures can be significantly different to inland. However, the house we use for our accommodation is a home and will have heating and is well insulated from the cold as is normal in a UK house.

Average temperatures (probably): 8 to 0 degC

Rainfall: 20mm (average for this time of year)
